COPIES TO:

Mayor Robert E.
Armstrong

You requested my opinion as to what steps you must take in order to comply with the wishes of the Common Council and the Mayor regarding the above entitled matter.

You first must ascertain whether or not the medical expenses incurred by Mr. Murray are owed by the City. If the City is legally obligated to pay the expenses, you, of course, must make prompt payment. If the City is not legally obligated, you, of course, must not make payment.

Despite the comments concerning moral responsibility, the City may not make payments based upon anyone's opinion as to what moral obligations may exist, since the taxpayers' money can be expended only for legally authorized expenditures.

The first question, of course, is: does the City owe Mr. Murray for his medical expenses? In order to determine that, you must have a determination of facts surrounding the incident. I would suggest that the Board of Safety make a complete set of findings of fact setting forth exactly what transpired. Once you have that information, we will conduct legal research to determine whether or not Mr. Murray was acting in the line of duty as set out in the State Statute. If the answer is that the conduct was in the line of duty, then the medical expenses resulting from that transaction will be paid. If, however, it is determined he was not acting in the line of duty, then the medical expenses should not be paid.

Furthermore, I understand that Mr. Murray has filed a medical malpractice suit against certain doctors and hospitals. This matter should be fully explored and the facts ascertained. If Mr. Murray's medical expenses are now as a result of medical malpractice and not as a result of the transaction which took place in the tavern, then, and in that event, the City would not, of course, be liable for the payment of those medical bills.

Furthermore, if the medical expenses are paid by third persons or if third persons are responsible for the payment of Mr. Murray's medical expenses, then we must determine whether or not the City is subrogated to Mr. Murray's rights against those third persons. On this final point, I will have one of the Associate City Attorneys research this legal question. In the meantime, a determination must be made by the Board of Safety as to the facts of the incident which took place causing Mr. Murray's initial medical matter,
